ISD 2142 - I worked as part of the Tower Forestry Board and the Minnesota DNR to create a school forest in the City's Forest Management Plan. I also worked with the Tower Soudan Elementary School for grant funding to purchase 25 pairs of cross country skis and then groomed a ski trail on the football field so they could host the "Tower Winter Olympics" and try out their new skis. I have been in the Rock Ridge School in the last year as part of a class on rain water gardens hosted by the North Saint Louis Soil and Water Conservation District.

Charter School - I have taught forestry and fire classes with the Vermilion Country School in Tower. This is part of their social studies curriculum which discusses indigenous cultural prescribed burning to manage forests.

I've also been in most of the schools during sporting events and the Christmas musical.

ISD 381 I attended the William Kelley drama performance.

Q10. Education Minnesota believes in restoring fairness to the state tax code by raising revenue from the very wealthiest corporations and richest households and reducing the reliance on local levies to fund schools. What progressive, equitable ways to raise state revenue do you support?

I support the establishment of a fifth tier income tax in Minnesota. Since District 3A is a popular place for seasonal recreational properties, we should also continue to work on ensuring seasonal property taxes stay within the districts that they were generated. Currently these funds go to the state general fund. This would support local districts with operational levies when approved by local jurisdictions. The School Trust fund dispersments should be modernized with the ballot measure this year. More of that revenue should also stay local as well.

Q15. What individual or system-level decisions in education do you believe are appropriate to make based on standardized test scores?

Data shows that standardized testing can be an important equalizer across demographics for college admissions. But that doesn't mean that we should punish teachers for taking the time to support tougher students. If a class shows lower standardized test scores, that is an indication that we should give them more support, not less. If teachers face incentives related to their students' standardized test scores, those incentives should also factor in other information to give a more comprehensive view of teachers' performance.

Q16. Most educators believe students should have access to a wide range of age-appropriate books that include relatable characters and situations that reflect the diversity of Minnesota families. However, certain politicians and big money groups are trying to remove books from school libraries across America, particularly books with LGBTQ+ characters or those that deal with racism in America. How should Minnesota protect its students' freedom to read?

Educators are the experts in education. Librarians are the experts in libraries. When they correctly say that the materials students read should reflect the diversity of Minnesota, the state should defend them from any school boards or parents who try to censor them. The fact that LGBTQ+ and BIPOC stories are the targets of censorship goes to show how sorely needed those stories are, especially for those LGBTQ+ and BIPOC kids who live in areas without many people like them.

Q27. How would you support schools, educators and students in recovering from the trauma and financial impacts that Operation Metro Surge inflicted upon our state, especially BIPOC communities?

Teachers, staff, and students must be safe from fear in their schools. We should prohibit ICE from conducting operations in or right outside schools. I would also support legislation protecting staff and students from invasive questions regarding their or their families immigration status. Finally, I would support legislation to help all our most vulnerable learners, including those impacted by Metro Surge, such as support for purchasing school supplies, defending universal school meals, and helping ensure students have safe and stable home environments so they come ready to learn.
