

Candidate for Minnesota House District 16B

Jun 11, 2026

Yes/No questions

1. Have you visited a public school in your district in the past year?

Yes

Q2. ESP living wage: Will you support legislation to ensure that all education support professionals earn a living wage of at least $25 an hour?

Yes

Q3. Due to significantly below-market compensation for teachers, most school districts in Minnesota are having difficulty filling teaching jobs, and state colleges report a continued decline in the number of graduates from teacher preparation programs. Would you support creating a minimum salary for all licensed Minnesota teachers of $60,000 a year and an $80,000 minimum salary for licensed teachers with 10 years of experience and a master's degree?

Yes

Q4. Will you support increasing state funding to ensure the financial sustainability of educator public pension funds, so the cost doesn't come out of workers' pockets?

Yes

Q5. Will you support improving teacher pensions, including an unreduced career rule, lowering penalties, and increasing cost of living adjustments for retirees?

Yes

Q6. Do you support the creation of and funding for the Educator Group Insurance Program (EGIP), which would give educators access to a mandatory statewide health insurance pool, just like other state workers?

Yes

Q7. Do you support dedicated funding for unemployment insurance for hourly school workers, and will you work against any efforts to repeal this benefit?

Yes

Do you support the following education funding priorities?

Q8a. Maintain the current automatic inflationary increase to the basic formula allowance, protecting funding increases from the erosion of inflation.

Yes

Q8b. SPED cross subsidy: Fully fund special education costs instead of relying on school districts to pay for them.

Yes

Q8c. EL cross subsidy: Fully fund the costs districts pay to provide quality English learner programs and instruction.

Yes

Q8d. Lower class sizes: Lower class sizes so teachers can give students more of the individual attention they need and deserve.

Yes

Q8e. Teachers of color: Fund programs to increase the number of teachers of color significantly so that teachers providing instruction better reflect the students in our classrooms.

Yes

Q8f. Student support: Defend Student Support Personnel Aid, which must be used for school nurses, social workers, counselors and psychologists.

Yes

Q8g. Defend against further cuts to school library aid, which is the only dedicated funding source for school libraries and media centers, including

Yes

Q8h. Early learning: Preserve and expand pre-Kindergarten options for all Minnesota families.

Yes

Q9. Would you commit to raising revenue to ensure the wealthiest corporations and richest households pay what they truly owe in taxes so every student, no matter what they look like or where they live, can attend a fully funded public school that prepares them to pursue their dreams?

Yes

Q11. Fully funded schools require adequate and stable revenues. Will you oppose tax cuts and carve outs that lower tax collections or narrow the tax base?

Yes

Q12. Efforts to address college affordability in the last two decades have resulted in 120% growth in the State Grant Program. One consequence of this high tuition/high aid model has been the chronic underfunding of the public college systems. Do you support returning to statutory funding levels for our public higher education institutions?

Yes

Q13. Another consequence of this high tuition/high aid model has been a significant amount of public money going to private colleges and universities. Do you support public dollars going solely to public higher education institutions?

Yes

Q14. Given nationwide attacks on higher education, do you support academic freedom and faculty control of curriculum?

Yes

Q17. Education Minnesota believes all students should have the freedom to feel safe, respected and welcomed in their public schools, no matter what they look like, no matter their country of origin, whether transgender or not. Do you agree?

Yes

Q18. Teachers need more time daily for planning and differentiating. Most after-school "prep" is filled with meetings. The current statute falls short of the time needed for preparing lessons. Will you support adjusting this statute to increase prep time?

Yes

Q19. Do you support paid, dedicated time outside of student contact time for special education teachers to complete their paperwork and attend required meetings?

Yes

Q20. Do you support increased reporting and transparency in worksite safety when reporting physical injuries and emotional trauma in the workplace?

Yes

Q21. The ability of workers to come together in a union and bargain collectively has been vital for reducing wage gaps by gender, building the middle class, and limiting wealth inequality in Minnesota. Do you support expanding and strengthening workers' rights to join a union and bargain collectively?

Yes

Q22. Will you oppose any legislation or constitutional amendments that would weaken collective bargaining rights, the right to organize, the right to strike, automatic payment of union dues, union access and activities at worksites or other anti-union policies backed by anti-worker groups?

Yes

Q23. Do you oppose state tax credits for private K-12 education tuition and expenses?

Yes

Q24. Will you support a moratorium on new charter schools until policy changes are made to ensure a stronger accountability system that will eliminate fraud and improve instructional and employment practices?

Yes

Q25. Will you reject all efforts to carve out, delay or rollback any aspects or benefits of the 2023 paid family medical leave law?

Yes

Q26. Do you support clarifying and strengthening workers' rights and protections in the paid family medical leave program?

Yes

Q1a. If yes: Which one? What were your observations from your visit? How will this experience inform your work as a legislator?

I recently visited the junior and senior economics classes at Willmar Senior High School to connect directly with the students. I was incredibly impressed by how engaged these young people are. We shared thoughtful, real-world discussions about work, local issues, and the scholastic hurdles facing them. This experience directly reinforces my campaign platform of "Real People, Real Change". In St. Paul, I will use these insights to advocate for common sense policies that strengthen education, support our local teachers and administrations, and build a thriving, chaos-free economy for the next generation.

Q10. Education Minnesota believes in restoring fairness to the state tax code by raising revenue from the very wealthiest corporations and richest households and reducing the reliance on local levies to fund schools. What progressive, equitable ways to raise state revenue do you support?

To ensure our schools are fully funded and to relieve the heavy burden of local property tax levies on our communities, we must work toward restoring long-term fairness to Minnesota's tax code. By championing progressive revenue measures—such as implementing a new income tax tier for our highest earners, establishing a wealth tax on multi-million dollar fortunes, and adjusting corporate tax rates for large companies—we can create a more balanced system where the wealthiest corporations and individuals contribute their fair share. As your representative, I am dedicated to co-sponsoring legislation that shifts our school funding structure away from unpredictable local levies and toward a robust, state-level per-pupil funding formula. Through thoughtful advocacy on tax and finance committees, I will vote for state budgets that prioritize equitable education funding, ensuring every Minnesota student has access to a high-quality education regardless of their zip code.

Q15. What individual or system-level decisions in education do you believe are appropriate to make based on standardized test scores?

Standardized test scores should be used as a tool to help schools and students, not as a weapon to punish them. At the district and state level, these tests are useful for spotting achievement gaps, seeing if a curriculum is actually working, and figuring out which schools need more state funding and resources. But when it comes to individual kids, a single test score should never decide their future. I don't support using these scores to hold students back, track them into lower-level classes, or evaluate teachers. Instead, we should use tests simply to catch where a student is struggling so teachers can give them extra help in reading or math. We need to dial back the high-stakes pressure of testing so our teachers can focus on actual learning rather than just teaching to a test.

Q16. Most educators believe students should have access to a wide range of age-appropriate books that include relatable characters and situations that reflect the diversity of Minnesota families. However, certain politicians and big money groups are trying to remove books from school libraries across America, particularly books with LGBTQ+ characters or those that deal with racism in America. How should Minnesota protect its students' freedom to read?

As a parent and a candidate, I know how important it is that families have a say in their kids' education, and our schools should absolutely respect that. But there's a big difference between guiding your own child's reading and allowing a small group to wipe out history or erase the real-life experiences of Minnesota families for everyone else. Our school libraries need to be places where kids can get an honest, complete education—even when dealing with the tough parts of our past—and where every student can find a book that reflects who they are. Pulling books about LGBTQ+ individuals or our history with racism doesn't protect kids; it just takes away their chance to build empathy and think for themselves. We can easily give parents individual choices for their own children without resorting to broad censorship that hurts diversity and inclusion.

Q27. How would you support schools, educators and students in recovering from the trauma and financial impacts that Operation Metro Surge inflicted upon our state, especially BIPOC communities?

As someone who stood on the front lines to observe ICE interactions and fiercely protect my immigrant neighbors during Operation Metro Surge, I saw firsthand the terror and devastation it brought to our communities. Healing from that trauma requires bold, compassionate action from the state, not just empty promises. In St. Paul, I will fight to put state funding directly into hiring culturally responsive, bilingual counselors and social workers for the schools that bore the brunt of these raids. We must also provide emergency financial aid to school districts facing drops in enrollment and fund targeted academic catch-up programs for students whose education was completely disrupted. Our schools must be absolute sanctuaries, which means passing ironclad student privacy protections so families can drop their kids off at the bus stop without fear of federal surveillance. Finally, I will use the findings from the Governor's Council to ensure we build legislative firewalls that prevent this kind of state-sanctioned cruelty from ever tearing our BIPOC and immigrant communities apart again.
